We are planning an extra-curricular trip to Paris from Tuesday 19th May – Friday 23rd May 2020 which will include a visit to the excellent mathematics exhibition at the Cité des Sciences et de l'Industrie (the largest science museum in Europe), where they will discover and explore the use of mathematics.

Our provisional itinerary will be:

- | | |
|--------------------------------|---|
| Tuesday 19 th May | Depart SHSB early morning by coach, crossing via Eurostar to arrive in Paris by lunchtime. In the afternoon we will visit Arc de Triumph and will spend the evening on a walk exploring the areas around our hotel. |
| Wednesday 20 th May | A visit to go up the Eiffel tower followed by a cruise along the River Seine in the afternoon. In the evening, we will engage in some challenging mathematical activities. |
| Thursday 21 st May | A visit to both Disneyland parks during the day followed by evening mathematical activities at the hotel. |
| Friday 22 nd May | We will leave shortly after breakfast and will explore a French supermarket to purchase a packed lunch for the day. We will then board the coach to the Cite des Sciences before starting our journey home |

The total cost for the trip will be £580. This price includes coach transport, insurance, full board accommodation in a hotel in the centre of Paris, all trips and all entrance fees.
