Parent Bulletin

24th May 2019

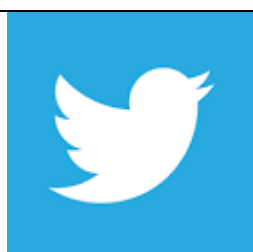

After thirteen years of fortnightly Parent Bulletins, it is time for change! This is the last Parent Bulletin in the current format. We will continue to contact parents directly, by email, with information that is relevant to school life – arrangements for term dates, early closures, reminders about lost property, parking, trips and more – as well as commentary on educational issues and developments.

Additionally, I will want to be able to write to you all – from time to time – seeking your support on matters where we might need to join together in support of the school or through voluntary financial contributions.

However, we have made a considered and appropriate decision to place news about the life of the school into the wider public domain: our adventures, our successes, charity events, extra-curricular activities, school performances, notable endeavours ...

This allows all our parents to continue to see these vital aspects of our news; but it also makes it much more readily accessible to current pupils, to prospective pupil applicants and their parents, to the thousands of former students who hold the school in great affection and continue to be immensely supportive, and to the wider Southend community. It's time to follow us!
